NCIC ENGAGES KITUI DELEGATION TO ADDRESS COUNTY CONFLICTS

The National Cohesion and Integration Commission (NCIC), led by Rev. Dr. Samuel Kobia CBS, hosted a delegation from Kitui County, headed by Governor H.E. Hon Julius Malombe, on Tuesday, November 19th. The meeting focused on addressing the ongoing conflict between Kitui and Tana River Counties, emphasizing the need for sustainable peace in the region.

Also in attendance were NCIC Commissioners' Sam Kona, Dr. Danvas Makori, Eng. Philip Okundi, Hon. Dorcas Kedogo and Hon. Abdulaziz Farah, along with Acting CEO CPA Harrison Kariuki. The group engaged in in-depth discussions aimed at identifying strategies to ease tensions and promote unity among the communities affected by the disputes.

Key points from the meeting highlighted the importance of collaboration and dialogue in conflict resolution. Both parties reaffirmed their commitment to peacebuilding efforts, recognizing that lasting solutions will require joint action and continued engagement between the counties involved.

Rev. Dr. Kobia reiterated that the NCIC remains dedicated to fostering peace across all regions of Kenya and will continue to support initiatives that promote unity, understanding, and cooperation. The meeting served as a vital step in reinforcing the importance of dialogue as a tool for resolving conflicts and ensuring long-term peace in the affected areas.

The NCIC's engagement with the Kitui delegation marks a crucial move towards addressing county-level tensions and promoting a culture of peaceful coexistence among communities.

The National Cohesion and Integration Commission (NCIC) participated in the 6th Elective General Assembly and Conference of the Association of African Public Service Commissions (AAPSCOMS), held from November 6th to 8th, 2024, at Safari Park Hotel in Nairobi. The gathering, a beacon of collaboration, brought together public service commissions from across Africa to strengthen governance, leadership, and professionalism in the continent's public services.

AAPSCOMS, established to address shared challenges such as governance inefficiencies, corruption, and institutional weaknesses, serves as a vital platform for fostering partnerships and enhancing administrative capabilities. The assembly provided a unique opportunity for African nations to converge and align their efforts toward a more efficient and ethical public service sector.

The conference was ignited by the keynote address from Cabinet Secretary Hon. Justin Muturi, who highlighted the role of innovation and technology in public service reform. "To modernize public administration, we must harness the power of technology," he said. "Innovation is the key to meeting the evolving needs of our citizens."

The NCIC had the privilege of showcasing its ongoing initiatives aimed at fostering national cohesion in Kenya. The commission exhibited a variety of Information, Education, and Communication (IEC) materials, offering a closer look at the strategies employed to promote unity, peace, and mutual understanding. Visitors engaged with these resources, gaining insights into how the NCIC navigates the "turbulent waters" of ethnic diversity and conflict management.

"Through dialogue and education, we plant the seeds of understanding, which will grow into a culture of cohesion," said one NCIC representative, reflecting on the commission's mission to foster peaceful coexistence among Kenya's diverse communities.

The assembly's discussions, marked by a spirit of unity, underscored the vital importance of ethical leadership and administrative efficiency in achieving good governance across Africa. As the conference drew to a close, the NCIC's contribution was seen as a significant step in nurturing a continent-wide commitment to peace, inclusion, and sustainable development.

On Thursday, 21st November 2024, NCIC Commissioner Hon. Dorcas Kedogo and National Land Commission (NLC) Commissioner Hon. Esther Murugi met with the Vihiga County Governor Dr. Wilber Ottichilo at his office in Mbale to discuss key issues affecting the county. The meeting aimed to identify areas where the county government and independent commissions could collaborate to address local challenges and improve service delivery for residents.

Also present at the discussions was Ag. County Commissioner Madam Florence Sitawa, who joined the leaders in emphasizing the need for strong partnerships to tackle the county's pressing issues.

The leaders focused on exploring synergies between the commissions and the county government, particularly in areas such as land management, community integration, and ensuring peace and cohesion. Both the NCIC and NLC highlighted the importance of working together to find sustainable solutions that benefit the people of Vihiga County.

During the meeting, the leaders agreed that fostering partnerships and collaboration between governmental and independent bodies is essential for addressing the county's challenges effectively and improving the quality of life for all its residents. The discussions concluded with a shared commitment to continued cooperation, with both sides agreeing to work closely on initiatives that promote social harmony and development in Vihiga County.

NCIC PARTNERS WITH RUFMO CONSULTING TO LAUNCH AMANI CLUBS IN NORTH EASTERN REGION

NCIC Deputy Director POED Mr. Killian Nyambu, (far left) NCIC staff together with the RUMFO team on 4th Dec 2024 during their meeting at the NCIC HQ

On Wednesday, 4th December 2024, the National Cohesion and Integration Commission (NCIC), led by Deputy Director Mr. Kilian Nyambu, held a pivotal meeting to launch AMANI (Peace) Clubs in the North Eastern Region. The initiative, aimed at enhancing community engagement and empowering youth, was developed in collaboration with RUFMO Consulting.

Mr. Nyambu was joined by RUFMO Consulting's CEO, Mr. Rufaa Sheikh Ahmed, and Director of Operations Mohamed Dahir, as they discussed strategies for implementing the AMANI Clubs across the region. The focus of the discussions was to create platforms where young people could engage in meaningful dialogue, build leadership skills, and promote social harmony within their communities.

The NCIC emphasized the importance of local participation, with a strong focus on involving community leaders to ensure the initiative's success. "We believe that empowering the youth through dialogue and leadership development is key to building long-term peace and unity in the region," said Mr. Nyambu during the meeting.

The AMANI Clubs are designed to provide safe spaces for young people to exchange ideas, address local issues, and contribute to fostering a culture of peace and coexistence. The initiative reflects the NCIC's ongoing commitment to promoting national cohesion and integration, particularly in regions where inter-community dialogue is crucial for maintaining peace.

With this collaboration, both the NCIC and RUFMO Consulting are optimistic that the AMANI Clubs will serve as a catalyst for positive change, empowering youth to become active participants in their communities and agents of peace.

NCIC partnered with the Kenya Women's Teachers Association (KEWOTA) for the 5th Annual Kenya Women Teachers Conference and Exhibition, held to address the critical need for empowerment among women educators. Themed "Transformative Empowerment: Breaking Barriers and Bridging Gaps for Women Educators in the 21st Century," the event convened influential figures in education and women's rights, including Ms. Harriet Chiggai, the President's Women Rights Advisor, and Ms. Benta Opande, the CEO of KEWOTA.

The conference served as a platform for partnership and innovation, with educators from across Kenya gathering to inspire change, share experiences, and discuss strategies to advance the role of women in education. The NCIC, a key sponsor of the event, emphasized its commitment to promoting gender equality and empowering women in all sectors, especially education. This aligns with the Commission's broader mission of fostering a peaceful and cohesive society.

"Empowering women educators is not just about enhancing the education sector, but also about building a more harmonious and inclusive society," said Ms. Regina Mutiru, Principal Program Officer from NCIC's Peacebuilding and Reconciliation Department, during her opening remarks. She highlighted the pivotal role women play in shaping future generations, setting the tone for the conference's discussions.

At the NCIC's exhibition booth, the Commission showcased her ongoing initiatives aimed at supporting women educators. The booth became a hub for knowledge-sharing, featuring materials focused on peacebuilding, reconciliation, and promoting gender equality.

KNCHR Commissioner Hon. Sarah Bonaya during the celebration of Human rights day on 10th Dec 2024 in Nairobi County

On December 10th, Kenya marked the International Day for Human Rights organized by the Kenya National Commission on Human Rights (KNCHR) at the National Museums of Kenya. Under the theme "Our Rights, Our Future, Right Now," the celebration underscored the urgent need to protect and promote human rights as a cornerstone for building a sustainable future.

The event brought together civil society organizations, human rights activists, and citizens, all united in their commitment to addressing the critical human rights concerns facing the nation. KNCHR has long been at the forefront of advocating for and safeguarding human rights in Kenya, ensuring that the rights of all individuals are upheld and protected.

In her remarks on behalf of KNCHR Vice Chairperson Dr. Raymond Nyeris, Commissioner Hon. Sarah Bonaya applauded the solidarity shown during the 16 Days of Activism Against Gender-Based Violence, which coincided with the event. "I commend the collective effort in raising awareness and taking action against gender-based violence, particularly the alarming rise in femicide cases," she said, reflecting on the significance of the campaign and its impact.

As key stakeholder on matters human rights NCIC was recognized for her role in promoting unity and cohesion in Kenya. NCIC's efforts to foster understanding, tolerance, and respect among Kenya's diverse communities are integral to ensuring a conducive environment for the realization of human rights for all citizens. The Commission's mandate closely aligns with the broader human rights agenda, as social harmony and inclusivity are essential for a just and equal society. This year's International Day for Human Rights served as a reminder of the collective responsibility to protect and advance human rights, ensuring that every individual in Kenya can live with dignity, equality, and respect.
